Stephen – Thank you for the information collected and synthesized in your report. Procedurally, all tips submitted via TCR are reviewed by the Office of Market Intelligence based on a number of factors. If the subjects or conduct relate to an ongoing investigation, the information will be forwarded to the relevant case team. I can't guarantee that will be us in this instance. Personally, I have found your reports in the other matter very helpful and well done, and this appears to be from the same mold. So, I just wanted to say we appreciate it. Happy to chat anytime. Thanks, [REDACTED]

Just wanted to let you guys know that I just submitted a detailed report on Logan Paul's involvement with CryptoZoo to TCR, also attached here.

Here's a quick synopsis:

- CryptoZoo is both a cryptocurrency investment and "play-to-earn" game involving the sale of $ZOO tokens, and NFTs (non-fungible tokens).
- It was created and promoted by Logan Paul, a popular millennial celebrity with 24 million instagram followers, 23 million Youtube subscribers and 5 million twitter followers.
- Logan Paul used his massive influence to recklessly cause millions of dollars in damages to investors through the sale of unregistered securities of a "play-to-earn" game.
- Logan Paul and the CryptoZoo team knowingly targeted unsophisticated investors.
- The game which sold millions does not work.

If anyone from the SEC is interested in having a more detailed discussion about it, I am certainly more than willing to talk. It's outrageous.
